PRICE, THREE CENTS

Break Ground For New Church Edifice

Methodist Ceremonies Sunday
Attended by 350
People.

PASTOR TURNS EARTH

Impressive ceremonies attended by 350 people marked the ground breaking for the new Methodist Episcopal Church at Essex and Price Avenues, Narberth, last Sunday.

Brief addresses by the pastor, the Rev. Samuel MacAdams, Dr. Harry M. Chalfont, Dr. George M. Brodhead, pastor of the Kensington Methodist Church, and Hon. Fletcher W. Stites, featured the service, which also included singing by the congregation, scripture reading and prayer. The church quartette rendered an anthem and George W. Wetherill sang the tenor solo, "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings."

The first spade of earth was turned by the pastor, Mr. MacAdams, on behalf of the trustees, and the official board of the church. Fletcher W. Stites, superintendent of the church school, dug the second spade and Mrs. A. W. Ward, superintendent of the primary department of the school and president of the Ladies' Aid Society, the third.

Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, pastor of the Baptist Church of the Evangel. Other ministers present were the Rev. W. H. Aspril, pastor of the Gladwyne Methodist Church, and the Rev. Cletus A. Senft, pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

The building, which will be late English gothic, will have, in addition to the sanctuary, a large auditorium with two side galleries, which will be used for the Sunday school, and social and recreational purposes. A modern kitchen, departments for beginners, primary and junior scholars will be included. An attractive feature will be a church lounge with a large fireplace, bay window and other interesting details. A fine organ with echo and chimes will also be installed through the generosity of Floyd W. Woodcock.

Actual work on the operation commenced Tuesday morning. The contractor hopes to complete the work by April, 1930.

New Officers Are Elected by Alumni

Frank McGrady Made President at Annual Meeting in High School.

FOUR NEW DIRECTORS

Officers of the Lower Merion High School Alumni Association sprung a surprise last Saturday night at the body's annual meeting held in the Senior High School at Ardmore, when they nominated and succeeded in electing new occupants for their posts. A similar attempt had been made the previous year, but had only resulted in re-election of the old group.

Frank A. McGrady, Old Lancaster Road, Bryn Mawr, was made president, to succeed E. J. Buckley, Ardmore, who was elected vice president. Miss Ella Litzberg, Bryn Mawr, succeeds Mary Scott McShane, Ardmore, as secretary. Thomas Ottey, Ardmore, was elected treasurer, to succeed Mrs. J. Herbert Baltz, Ardmore.

Four new directors were named: Robert L. Elmore, Cynwyd, president of the graduating class; Grace Adams, Bryn Mawr, secretary of the class; Mrs. Mabel Entriiken Cunningham, Bryn Mawr, graduate in the Class of 1907, whose son, Robert, Jr., won the Bryn Mawr Business Men's Association scholarship award last week; and Miss Edith Bigelow, Ardmore Park, a recipient of the Alumni scholarship, who was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania February of this year after completing her college course in three and one-half years.

Directors re-elected are as follows: Clarence Cornman, Richard J. Hamilton, D. M. West, J. H. Baltz, Malvin Wallace, Romalo Talone, William Pyle, Harry Leedom, Dr. C. H. Arnold, Joseph Kladenbacher, George W. Brown, Paul McCurdy, Charles Myers, Gordon Burlingame, Philip Hart, Florence Kerrigan, Marion Yerkes, Hagar Lowry, Mrs. J. H. Warm Days Still Rare
"Another cool week" is the term given by Charles Decker, Main Line weatherman, to the last seven days in the current month. According to his observations the only day on which temperatures reached normal or above was last Friday. While cutting down patronage at the bathing resorts, however, the last week has not been unpleasant for those who like early spring temperatures, which ranged from 42 to 85 degrees.

Need More Clothing
More discarded clothing can be used to advantage by the welfare workers of the Women's Community Club for the Crossnore School, North Carolina. A recent shipment found a small surplus so that a third box has been started, which it is hoped to get off by Tuesday. Those interested should call Mrs. G. N. Gill, 216 Dudley Avenue.

Many Attend Cozens' Funeral on Tuesday

Honor Graduate Manager of Athletics at Penn Who Died Suddenly.

WAS FAMOUS ATHLETE

The funeral of Ernest B. Cozens, of Bryn Mawr Avenue, Wynnewood, graduate manager of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania, who died suddenly of heart attack in his office last Saturday, was held Tuesday at 2 P. M. at 1820 Chestnut Street. It was in charge of John R. Hart, chaplain of the University, and was attended by many officials of the University, by members of the gridiron and varsity P clubs and by representatives of many colleges. Private burial took place in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mr. Cozens, who was captain and all-American center on the Pennsylvania football team in 1910, had been playing in a varsity-alumni baseball game on Friday, and the exertion is said to have brought on the fatal heart attack. Despite warnings to "take it easy," "Ernie," as he was known to his friends, played strenuously, catching for several innings and smashing out a three-base hit and a single.

His death came without warning when he was sitting in his office in Weightman Hall discussing the game of the day before with some friends.

"Ernie" Cozens was born at Hadonfield, N. J., and his athletic career began at Haverford School. He was even then a six-footer, weighing 165 pounds, and, as captain of his school team in 1906, led it in defeating the University of Pennsylvania freshmen. The following year, entering Penn, he immediately found a place on its freshman team and in 1908 was a member of one of the University's most famous elevens, which went through the season without loss of a game. He continued playing until he was graduated in 1911, and as captain in 1910 was chosen as All-American center. He also played 'varsity' baseball three years. He was considered one of the best catchers the Red and Blue ever had.

As a mark of respect to Mr. Cozens the baseball game scheduled between the University of Pennsylvania and Iowa on Franklin Field Saturday afternoon was called off.

Mr. Cozens is survived by his wife, the former Miss Amelia Schmertz, of Pittsburgh, and four children, Ernest B., Jr., 12; Amelia, 9; William, 5, and Lee, 2.

Too Many Wives

A Main Line woman figured as one of the witnesses against Louis Sadur, 27, of Frankford, alleged to have had two wives at the same time. He had been held in $2500 bail for a further hearing June 28 before Magistrate Carney, Philadelphia, on bigamy and other charges.

Miss Edith Eidenberg, 22, daughter of a wealthy manufacturer of Narberth, who on May 28 went through a marriage ceremony with Sadur in New York, and the defendant's first wife, Mrs. Minerva Sadur, whom he married seven years ago in Albany, N. Y., and who is the mother of his two children, both appeared against him.

Prize Winner

Mrs. Arthur Goldsmith, of Montgomery Avenue, Wynnewood, won five awards at the spring flower show of the Garden Club of Bala-Cynwyd held last Saturday. They were two firsts and three seconds.

Did It Elsewhere, But Can't in Ardmore Theatre

Francis Donaldson, 3d, 21-year-old son of Francis Donaldson, Jr., of Wynnewood, who recently returned from a trip around the world, was fined $10 and $5 costs Monday night by Magistrate Stillwagon in the Ardmore Police Station for refusal to heed a warning not to smoke in the Ardmore motion picture theatre.

The youth refused to discard a lighted cigar at the request of George Bleach, assistant manager of the theatre. He told Magistrate Stillwagon he had smoked in theatres all over the world and did not see why he should not do the same in Ardmore.

Donaldson was released when his brother, William Donaldson, tendered a check for $15 in payment of the fine and costs.

By John Uberti.

Reminiscent for his valiant but vain stand against the experienced "Rube" McKenty, the man who occupied the hill as Narberth won the 1928 gonfalon, Nick Lyon came back to the local diamond to help give Narberth a 9-5 win over 20th Ward, one of the leading ball clubs of the Quaker City League in a twilight game Wednesday. Never this season was there a more enigmatic boxman on the local slab who was so highly praised for his efficient ability as a pitcher. Every man of the rival nine returned to their dugout with the same predominating remark, "I can't see them."

Gilfillan and Young were the stellar performers for this night-cap encounter, the former in a Ruthian role as he met one of Cannally's fast balls for a perfect four-master far into the blue in right, accounting for two runs, while Young played a dexterous game in that same inning when he allowed Mulligan to reach first by drawing the pitcher's attention to him as he took a lead off third, whereupon the pitcher threw to third in endeavor to run him down, but when the third baseman missed the throw Mulligan went on to second and Young crossed.

For the first time during his connection with the Narberth Club, Mulligan was transferred to second base, Gilfillan holding down his former position at shortstop.

Both pitchers were quite liberal in allowing walks, as is seen from the fact that both teams scored one run more than they did hits. Lyon distributed the greatest number of free tickets to the initial base.

Twentieth Ward started the scoring by counting once in the opener, and the Davismen leisurely followed suit with three in the same inning. Mulligan's liner screeched past third so ob-

Hold Unique Exercises

Unique and interesting exercises were held by the Narberth Kindergarten Wednesday afternoon at the Community Building under direction of its teacher, Miss Ethel Williams. Two puppet plays, "Red Riding Hood" and "Billy Goat Gruff," were presented by the children, who, in addition to acting the parts, composed all the lines, made the stage scenery and even provided the orchestra. All children in the kindergarten participated in the affair in one way or another. At the conclusion of the plays the mothers, of whom there were a large number in attendance, served ice cream and cake.

Story Hour Tuesday

All children are invited to the next story hour at the Narberth Community Library next Tuesday, June 18, at 4 o'clock. The stories will be "Pot of Gold," "Skipping Shoes," "Snow White and the Seven Little Dwarfs."

Rockland and Grove Place to Be Paved

Petitions Filed With Needed
Signatures on Monday.

PAVING BIDS OPENED

The campaign inaugurated several years ago to give Narberth 100 per cent. paved streets came to a successful conclusion Monday night when petitions were filed with the Highway and Sewer Committee of Council by property owners of Grove Place and Rockland Road, indicating their readiness to stand their share of paving those streets according to the terms of the Street Improvement Bond Issue.

With the filing of Wynnewood Court's petition at the May meeting of Council there remains in doubt only the section of Haverford Avenue from Essex to Conway Avenues. The property owners on the north side of the street have all signified their readiness to bear their share of the expense, but negotiations with the Pennsylvania Railroad, the abutting property owner for half of the street, have not yet been completed. It is highly probable, however, that the way will be cleared for the paving of this street also this year.

Rockland Avenue, which had been the thorn in the side of Council in the matter of the petition, went over the top with a bang at the last moment. The total frontage of the street is 2029 feet (both sides). The amount required to qualify for paving under the terms of the Street Improvement Bond Issue was 1393 front feet. A landslide of signatures by property owners on Monday made the total 1509 feet.

Bids were opened by President Leitch at the opening of Council meeting Monday night for the paving of Wynnewood Court, Grove Place, Rockland Avenue from the railroad to Narberth Avenue, and Haverford Avenue from Essex to Conway. The bids were as follows: R. L. Evans, Ambler, $26,639.96; Ramsdell Co., Philadelphia, $24,189.50; F. Guy Myers Co., Philadelphia, $28,026.15; Benjamin Foster, Philadelphia, $28,027.55; Knox Mariana Co., Ardmore, $24,325.48; Suburban Construction Co., Ardmore, $23,640.50.

The bids are under consideration by the borough engineers and action will be taken at a special meeting of Council next Monday night.

School Board Hires Recreation Director

To Have Complete Charge of Work at School and Playgrounds.

TO HIRE 2 ASSISTANTS

The Narberth School Board's program for increased physical education facilities and instruction came to a head at the June meeting of the Board on Monday afternoon when a full-time man was hired for the recently-created post of director of physical education and recreation. The Board also authorized the hiring of two assistant women teachers for the summer to assist at the community and school playgrounds. They will assume their duties July 1.

The Grounds Committee was authorized to purchase playground equipment for the school playground and to re-equip the community playground. This will be installed by July 1.

The new director of physical education and recreation, whose name has not been released by the Board due to the formality of registering his credentials in this State, will have full charge of the recreation work of the school both during the school term and during vacations. With the assistance of two teachers through the summer, it is expected that a new era of supervised play for the school children will be inaugurated this year.

The summer school, which will be conducted again in the borough by advanced students from the school of education at the University of Pennsylvania, will open Monday, July 1. It will include grades four to eight, instead of five to eight as was previously announced. It provides a fine opportunity either to make up work missed or to gain advanced credits. Any students or mothers interested should get in touch immediately with Principal George H. Wilson at the Narberth School.

Wouldn't This Be Nice?

The prospect of having stairs from the station platform to the Narberth Avenue bridge is a pleasing one to commuters whom it would save from one to two blocks' walk. Time would be saved in getting home in the evening, not to mention the additional chance of late starters making their train by means of this short cut.

At present there are steps from the platform down to Essex Avenue; why not some at the other end to Narberth Avenue? At present it reminds one of a subway station with an extremely long platform and the exits all bunched at one end.

The new platform on the north side now extends up to the bridge. True it is pleasant to disembark from a long train onto a platform instead of wallowing around among tracks and dirt piles, but it would be better yet if one could ascend stairs at that end of the platform and cut out at least two or three blocks of unnecessary walking.

100 Per Cent. Paved Streets

On the heels of the gratifying announcement of county aid for Wynnewood Avenue comes the completion of the petitions with the necessary signatures which will insure the paving of Rockland Road from Narberth Avenue to the railroad and of Grove Place this year.

Wynnewood Court has already gone through the necessary procedure, being the first of the four unpaved streets in the borough to do so.

In the advertising for bids Haverford Avenue from Essex to Conway was included, although whether this portion of the street is paved along with the others this year may depend on the willingness of the Pennsylvania Railroad to co-operate as it is the abutting property owner for half of the street.

The grant of $8000 to the borough by the County Commissioners for Wynnewood Avenue is especially opportune since without it only half of the road could have been repaired this year by the borough. Now the whole road from the pike to Windsor Avenue will be improved and a much better job done than otherwise would have been the case.

Paving Rockland Road, which is a connecting street between the borough and Merion, will facilitate communication to our business district from our storeless neighbor and will also impress visitors entering the borough by that street much more favorably than did the bumpy reception the street was wont to offer.

Few communities can boast of 100 per cent. paved streets and such will be Narberth's position before the end of the summer.

A 'Well-Baby' Clinic

During the past week we received a communication from a Narberth mother who wants to know "Why is it that Narberth does not have a 'Well Baby Clinic' similar to that of Ardmore?"

Perhaps by supplying a little information on the subject we may do her and other mothers a slight service.

The "Well Baby Clinic" at Ardmore is one of four centers operated by the Community Health and Civic Association, whose headquarters is at 25 East Athens Avenue, Ardmore. In addition to Ardmore clinics operated are at Bryn Mawr, Oakmont and West Manayunk. The Ardmore clinic is open twice a week, that at Bryn Mawr twice a week and the Oakmont and West Manayunk clinics once a week. A doctor and nurse are in attendance at each clinic, at which thorough medical examinations are given. No medical work is performed at the clinics, but recommendations are made for the family physician. The chief purpose of the clinic is to "keep well babies well."

Under the present arrangements Thursday afternoon from 2 to 3 P. M. is the time for babies from the Narberth district. The Welfare Committee of the Women's Community Club provides transportation at this time for all mothers who wish to attend the clinic either accompanying or sending their babies. An average attendance of from fifteen to twenty children from the Narberth district has been the case.

The principal reason why a centre has not been established in Narberth is the expense connected with the equipment and efficient operation of a clinic. The Women's Community Club would no doubt permit the use of their room in Elm Hall, but a clinic without equipment and skilled attendants is not good for much.

At the present time the duplication of equipment and staff does not seem warranted in view of the easy access to the Ardmore centre made possible by the Welfare Committee of the Community Club. If Narberth mothers had no means of transportation to the Ardmore centre the argument for establishment of such a centre in the borough would gain considerable force. Until the number of babies from Narberth attending the clinic increases considerably the chances are against the establishment of a centre here.

The Community Health and Civic Association is supported by the Welfare Federation, the Red Cross and by donations from the Lower Merion Board of Health and the Haverford Township Board of Health. The establishment of a centre in the borough would no doubt necessitate some financial support from the Narberth Board of Health, which it may or may not be prepared to give.

Do Your Share

During the next few days one hundred and fifty property owners in the borough will receive missives from the chairman of the Highway and Sewer Committee of Council calling attention to minor sidewalk repairs on their property.

Those who have received such notices in previous years may note that this year's notices are couched in more ingratiating language. In fact, they achieve the double purpose of being both courteous and mandatory—no small accomplishment.

The committee reports that though the number of necessary repairs is about the same as in previous years, the importance of such repairs is less. Well-cared-for sidewalks are an evidence of pride in one's community and always aid in making a good impression on strangers.

Any property owners who are in doubt as to what repairs are required should get in touch with the superintendent of public works, George B. Supple, at Elm Hall, and he will be glad to make any explanations necessary. It might be added that it is to the advantage of all who receive such notices to have the work attended to promptly as there is a 10 per cent. penalty added to the cost if not done within the specified time.

Miss Jean Wohler, of 26 Narbrook Park, had a delightful party Saturday on the occasion of her sixth birthday. The young guests included Ruth Woolmington, Eleanor Abel, Nancy Jane MacKenzie, Jimmy MacKenzie, Grier Heindel, Mary Elizabeth Tyson, Frederick Kuehler and Shirley, Barbara and Poppy Nason.

Mrs. W. H. Timberlake and her daughter, Miss Ella Timberlake, will leave tomorrow to spend a week in New York with Mrs. Timberlake's sister.

Contributions to the Narberth Baseball Club are still coming in and still more will be welcome. The expenses involved in getting high-class teams here for twilight games are high, and the management hopes to offer the fans a bill of fare which will include the best independent teams of Philadelphia and vicinity.

Contributors not listed in last week's issue are the following: Richard Gilis, A. H. Wilson, M. P. Tyson, C. P. Cook, E. P. Dold, R. R. Calkins, Howard Hager, J. Russell Breiteringer, J. P. UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

This is the fourth of a series of articles on "Prohibition," expressing the views of the columnist rather than the editorial policy of the news-magazine.

Prohibition

Immediately following the national prohibition act there came a period of adjustment. Conviviality was no longer legal. Alcoholic beverages could no longer be bought, transported or owned unless their acquisition had been prior to the act. Brewers and distillers were forced to look for new businesses. Retail liquor dealers, saloonkeepers and others were forced to seek new employment. Those who had the means and inclination had stocked up with spirituous beverages; the others found themselves in an arid desert without an oasis in sight.

As soon as people realized what had happened, abuses crept in. Old supplies of liquor were sold clandestinely to eager buyers. Moonshining sprang up and stills were set up by men incompetent to and careless about making anything fit to drink. The bootlegger became a reality, for those who were forbidden to drink took a keen delight in outwitting the law and in obtaining the forbidden fruit of the grape and the grain. Many who had never used alcohol before vented their irritation against such governmental supervision by starting to use illegal liquor. Boys and girls, who five years before would have shuddered at the thought of strong drink, not only indulged on occasion, but "toted" baskets to dances and other parties. Where drunkenness had been frowned upon and abhorred, mild tipsiness became rather amusing to otherwise upright people.

This attitude brewed disrespect for the law so suddenly that officials, educators, social workers and clergymen became alarmed and denounced these "scofflaws" with great violence. Feelings ran high, and those who would drink heaped maledictions upon those who had deprived them of what they stated to be a time-honored privilege. There was much talk about a man's house being his castle, and an individual's right to govern his own conduct and habits. The bitter foes of "John Barleycorn," the Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U., were busier than ever. They now had their desired law, but they needed more machinery, more funds and more public approval to secure its support and enforcement.

The class of those who drank gradually shifted. The laborer who had formerly neglected to feed and clothe his family and had spent much of his wages in saloons began to save money. More and more of them acquired bank balances; some bought their own homes. They bought automobiles, phonographs, and when the radio became popular, they were soon at the shops with their dollars. Those of their group who continued to quench their thirst could obtain only very inferior drinks. Many were sickened by the abominable stuff they bought and let it alone; others they bought and not a few were killed.

While these people were growing more independent economically, the wealthier folks were devising ways to obtain their spirits. Great combines of bootleggers managed to smuggle in liquor from abroad, from Canada, from Mexico, and, according to the public prints, from the Government warehouses themselves. Doctors were impudently to issue prescriptions. Druggists were bullied into "cutting" what stock they could get. The habit of intemperance drinking quickly passed from the laboring class to the wealthier strata of society.

The situation became alarming to social tranquility and the administration of law. These forces have grown until we have reached the state which we must all recognize today. Next week we shall scrutinize the condition as we find it locally now.

Beetles Due Soon;

Expert Gives Advice

The Japanese beetle is due to arrive above ground about the end of this month.

This was the prediction made by Loren B. Smith, senior entomologist in charge of the Japanese beetle laboratories of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Moorestown, N. J. "The first beetles are usually found about the second week in June," said Mr. Smith, "but they do not become plentiful, or cause much injury, until the last of the month or the first of July."

Now is the time for property owners to begin spraying their shade trees and valuable plants if they want them protected. Use the coated lead arsenate at the rate of four pounds of the powder to fifty gallons of water. Apply this mixture with a good hand-sprayer or bucket pump. Cover all foliage. Throw a mist spray over the top and sides of the plant, coating both sides of the leaves.

"We have found that traps are valuable in catching beetles, but little or no good in protecting foliage from the pest. The average property owner, or fruit grower is interested in protecting his own plants and orchards, and so the spray. The farmer does not care how many beetles there may be in his orchard, as long as he is able to keep them from destroying the foliage and injuring the fruit."

"Never place a trap without the use of arsenate spray on the foliage. There is no question but what traps will catch beetles, but it will bring ten beetles to a property where only one might be before the trap is set. A trap and unsprayed foliage only invite troubles and result in defoliated plants."

L. M. Boys Capture Junior Track Title

Herb Young Leads Team to Third Victory in League Championship.

For the third consecutive year Lower Merion Junior High School carried away the Suburban League championship at their annual track and field meet, held at Radnor last week.

Three new records were established during the afternoon. Russell Wood, who greatly resembles Abraham Lincoln, cleared the high jump bar with a jump of 5 ft. 7 in. Max Forrest, husky captain of Haverford Junior High School's track team, broke the other two records. His heave of the twelve-pound shot set a new mark at 51 feet, and he also threw the discus for a new record of 130 feet. Besides setting these two records, Forrest also won first place in the 50-yard dash.

Herb Young, leader of the Orange and Black from Lower Merion, took first places in the 100 and 200-yard dashes. Louis Buck easily won the quarter and half-mile distances for the Main Liners. O'Dorisio took the only first place scored by Radnor in the low hurdles. Taylor won the broad jump for Lower Merion and the 880-yard relay was also taken by Lower Merion.

Lower Merion boys who placed in events were Young, Johnson, Taylor, Jackson, Henry, Trout, Buck, Lutz, Parkinson, Rondini, Brown, Bottoms, Mattily.

Score: Lower Merion, 72½; Haverford, 56½; Upper Darby, 17 2-8; West Chester, 13; Radnor, 12.

The Old Main Line

The following historical sketch, which will be printed serially, was written by Margaret B. Harvey, and originally published in a volume issued by the Historical Society of Montgomery County in 1895. Entitled "Something About Lower Merion," it traces the history of the township from its beginnings to the 1890's with many delightful digressions.

Installment 12

In which we visit the beautiful cemetery of West Laurel Hill.

If we retrace our steps and go back toward Philadelphia, along the Lancaster Turnpike, we still find the same succession of old taverns, the Red Lion, near the upper end of Ardmore, being the only one still used as a hotel. This is the great resort of bicycle clubs, quite different quests from the old-time sojourners, from wagons and stages.

What a long, weary journey it must have been to Pittsburgh in a wagon. You might suppose teamsters and travelers would welcome a change. But not such is the proverbial shortsightedness of human nature. When a railroad through Lower Merion was first talked of, these teamsters and travelers were the first to oppose the innovation. Why? Because, they said, it will make horses good for nothing. And when, at last, the railroad was built the people were afraid to use it, and for years thereafter continued to travel with horses and wagons.

Have I told all that I know of Lower Merion? Nearly; except that now that the Schuylkill Valley Railroad has cut through its northwestern corner the people of the outside world will learn, more and more, what a beautiful resting place for our dead we have within our borders—West Laurel Hill. Not that I admire pretentious cemeteries—the little graveyard adjoining the Lower Merion Meeting House suits my simple Quaker taste very much better; but I like West Laurel Hill because of its natural loveliness, its wonderfully beautiful prospects of rock and wood, vale and river. Had I been a member of the Anderson family with such a fair ancestral domain as Maple Hill, scarce could I have consented to its change of name and nature. But, if it is fitting that the remains of the distinguished dead be laid among us, let me say that we have a Necropolis sufficiently magnificent for the sepulchre of kings.

This is all that I know of Lower Merion. My knowledge is chiefly of its past. Of its present let those tell more who know more, those who have entered into it as conquerors and who now possess the land. Of its future I can safely say that, like its past, this will be beautifully, heroically grand; the past is marked by humanity's constant endeavor. The future will be marked by humanity's triumphant success. Our Lower Merion will be, as it is, as it has been, the world in miniature; our people of the past, the present, the future, typify all people—humanity toiling, humanity expectant, humanity crowned.

Wins Essay Prizes

Ross Wilbur, a pupil in Lower Merion High School, at Ardmore, and Miss Alice Mary Anderson, of the Shipley School, Bryn Mawr, were named recently as the second and third winners, respectively, of the Brooks-Bright Foundation Essay Contest Award.

The awards, in which Robert S. Fitzgerald, of Choate School, Wallingford, Conn., won first, are made in a group of schools not members of the Brooks Bright Foundation. Miss Anderson is the first girl to get the award since it was established.

Mr. Wilbur will have the choice of a year in an English university or a prize of a set of rare editions of books.

WHAT GOOD IS AN OYSTER STEW IF THERE AREN'T ANY OYSTERS IN IT?

Most brewers today make beer the same as they did before prohibition and then get rid of the surplus alcohol by either boiling or dealcoholizing it.

Any beverage so made loses, along with the alcohol, every beneficial and nourishing property. All that is left is colored water which must be chemically treated to make it salable.

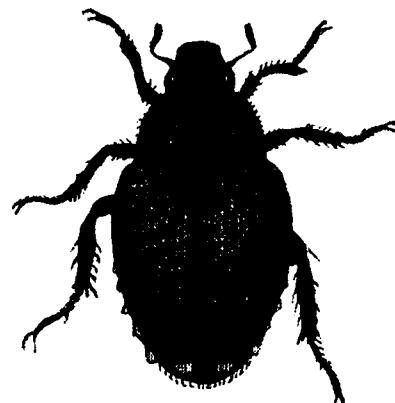

The HORNUNG method brews REAL BEER to conform with present day legal requirements.

 The 8th Grade boys and girls presented to the Art Department as a parting gift a delightful water color, painted by Miss Mabel Hall, of the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art.

On Friday evening, June 7, 1929, the 8th Grade boys' Dramatic Club, under the direction of Miss Eckbert, presented a three-act play, "The Freshman," in the school auditorium. The guests were the members of the 8th Grade Class, their parents and friends.

From the laughter and applause it seemed a great success. The leading roles were taken by Ned Bartlett and Reuben Bowen, supported by an able cast.

A last-minute change on account of the illness of Charles Rice found red-headed Nye Spencer in the role of a flip flapper in a college town. The special tormentors of the freshman were Sophomores Murray, Hensley and Mills, who kept the play moving fast. John Raser and Jack McIntire, professor and bookworm, respectively, furnished a large part of the comedy, while Sturgis Poorman and Arthur Wright were irresistible as college girls. John Bob Miller as an Alabama darkey and janitor emeritus of the university provoked much amusement. Boyd Lentz's service as understudy and prompter was very much appreciated.

The success of the play was due, in no small measure, to the able assistance of Miss Gassner and William Murray.

The members of the cast presented Miss Eckbert with a handsome purse and a bouquet of roses and delphinium as a token of their appreciation.

Fellowship Holds Annual Banquet and Dance

At the third annual banquet and dance of the Young People's Fellowship of All Saints Church, Wynnewood, held Wednesday evening, June 29, about seventy mothers and fathers and young people joined in and sang songs between the courses of the delicious dinner. Robert L. Leitch, president of the Fellowship, welcomed everyone present and thanked the Banquet Committee for their splendid work. Those on the committee were Richard M. Gillis, chairman; Ella Ross, Virginia Douglass, Edwin Wolfe and Albert Blaess.

The Reverend Gibson Bell acted as toastmaster. Dr. Bell commented on the efficient work of the Fellowship in aiding the church and also outside activities. The speaker of the evening was Louis Pitt, of St. Mary's Church, Ardmore. James Vandersall, a student at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, played four violin solos, accompanied by Vernon Hammond. Dancing followed the banquet to the music of Bill Clear's Orchestra.

Scout Benefit Successful

The scout benefit at the Narberth Theatre Monday and Tuesday nights is reported a big success. Four scouts were initiated with appropriate and impressive ceremonies into the Narberth Troop by Assistant Scoutmaster Thomas Merkle. The boys were Mason, Van Auker, Templeman and Livingston. About fourteen boys have already signed up for camp and will leave June 29. The benefit this week was for the purpose of defraying expenses of Narberth scouts there this summer.

Library Outlines Children's Vacation Reading Plans

For the third year the Library will co-operate with the Mothers' Council in planning vacation reading for the children from the second through the sixth grades.

The list of books has been prepared to outline a trip around the world, starting at Philadelphia and traveling to Mexico and then on up through the Indian reservations and Alaska to the Arctic and across the Atlantic Ocean to the European countries, on into Japan, and thence south to the Philippines, through Africa and then home.

This is all done, of course, by means of books, books suitable to the ages and inclinations of the readers. If any one, young or adult, wonders at the meanderings of the route, it may be said that the route was outlined by the Library to take in those places of interest where it had already established literary contacts. Stop-over privileges will be given to any who wish to make side trips on their own responsibility.

A large map at the Library will illustrate this route, and smaller one will be provided for the individual children to record their own journeyings. A suggestive list of books will be kept at the Library for the use of those making the trip, and in the fall those who can report that they have visited each of the countries indicated will be rewarded by the Library, as usual, with a Vacation Reading Certificate, and by the Mothers' Council, also as usual, with an appropriate gift.

Give Farewell Party to 7th and 8th Grades

On Monday evening the Mothers' Council gave a farewell party to the members of the seventh and eighth grade classes who are leaving the Narberth School in September to go to Lower Merion Junior High.

The tables were most artistically decorated with roses and honeysuckle and the wide window sills were massed with garden flowers.

During the evening the classes presented their prophecies and histories and much fun was occasioned by the small and appropriate gifts given to each member of both classes.

Kenneth L. M. Pray and Principal George H. Wilson gave short talks as did some of the teachers. It was a most enjoyable evening and the Mothers' Council wishes the best sort of a future for these boys and girls when they reach Lower Merion.

Anything you or your friends do is news. Let us hear about it.

strepitously that the third baseman leaped out of its path, but Heckle elevated an easy pop to the catcher. Curwin, leading stick-smith for this contest, made two bases on Cavanaugh's blunder, and Gilfillan reached first as the second baseman misjudged his aerial and went on to second when the second baseman made an overthrow to the pentagon, failing to tag Mulligan, who was dashing for the plate. Martin singled, admitting Curwin and Gilfillan. Humphreys passed a called ball as the fleet-footed Martin was nipped off second. Cannally chucked out the veteran.

The tourists counted one in the third and Narberth continued on their assault, as they hit Cannally all over the lot, raising the score to nine runs against two. Thomas and Young made their way to first on erring plays of Cavanaugh and Mullen, respectively, and Lyon gained admittance to first as the third baseman juggled his hard clout, Thomas scoring. Young immediately crossed on Mulligan's second hit of the game, and Heckle singled, shipping in Lyon. After Curwin blanked, Gilfillan stepped to the rubber and smashed his terrific circuit-clout into deep right. Thomas missed the third strike, following Heckle's footsteps to the plate.

There was a continual bellowing in the rival dugout to "win that game." Despite the severe lacing the Davis-men were administering the 20th Ward nine, there was an ever-prevailing jubilant atmosphere in that "hole." Until the final toss that ended the contest, the Quaker City club was confident of victory, backing their confidence by the fact that "the Athletics have done it and so can we."

However, the circumstances proved not propitious to the invading lads of the 20th Ward outfit, for they barely managed to count twice in the fifth and one in the subsequent frame, when Manager Davis, as is his custom, began to give substitutes the opportunity to mock the jocular Cannally. Beebe strolled in the fifth and Greene doubled, shipping in his dwarfish partner. Zimmerman was retired on strikes and Matro walked. When Young muffed one, Green and Mato moved simultaneously, but Denni was chucked out, Gilfillan to Martin, Green and Mato crossing in the meantime.

Cannally went to first in the sixth when Graham, who relieved Lyon in that session, allowed a wild heave to strike him, and Beebe got his fourth consecutive free ticket to first. Green, who led the rivals with the hickory, doubled for his third hit, whereupon Cannally took to the plate.

hand drawing won by Edith Diehl, Cynwyd.

Billie Wren rendered two violin solos and Bernard Mellor sang two songs while the stage was being arranged for the play.

In conclusion the ninth grade presented a one-act play by John Golden, "The Vanishing Princess." Arthur Tuttle, Elinor Schoff, Robert Braid and Eddie Moore took the leading parts.

A picture of the Abbeys at Valley Forge, "The Cairn," first in the series of pictures of the Evolution of the Book, and a silver trophy in the girls' color contest were given to the Junior High School by the upper school.

Gifts from the eighth grade to the Junior High were a picture, "The First Inaugural," "The All-Tradition," second in the series of the Evolution of the Book, and a mace for use in chapel services.

Fourth Plans Under Way

Plans for the Fourth of July celebration in the borough are being formulated. The Legion is co-operating with the Board of Trade in providing for the celebration. It is expected that Burgess Henry A. Frye will announce his citizens' committee shortly. Harry A. Simpson is chairman of the Harold D. Speakman Post's committee, while the Board of Trade representatives will be Colonel A. A. Keesler and J. Bertram Nesper.

The celebration, which is expected to outdo anything of this nature heretofore, will encompass baseball games, fireworks displays and a band concert in the evening.

Two Die in Plane Crash

William J. Welch, 29, pilot for the Patco Flying Field, near Norristown, and James F. O'Brien, 23, Conshohocken, passenger, were killed in an airplane crash at Gladwyne last Thursday. Funeral services for the former were held Tuesday with interment in Church Hill Cemetery, Maryland, while the funeral of Welch was held at St. Matthias' Church, Conshohocken, Monday, with burial in the adjoining cemetery.

SO THEY SAY

"It is just as easy to marry the boss' daughter as the stenographer."

—Professor Robert Emmons Rogers.

"For the majority of us life is a mystery which arouses our curiosity."

—Walter Yust.

"The greatest obstacle to progress is not man's inherited pugnacity, but his incorrigible tendency to parasitism."

—Dean Inge.

"Latin and algebra are undoubtedly good training for the mind, but they are of about as much practical use to most of us as a knowledge of hydraulic engineering."

—Emily Post.

"Our nature is neither noble nor generous. We remember slights more easily than kindnesses."

—Ernest Dimmet.

"The mere existence of newspapers is a proof of the religious instinct among men, that passionate interest in one another which implies that we are all gossips together."

—Christopher Morley.
